Name: John SATTERLEY

Personal Details:
Very few details are known about John Satterley. He was one of the first crew members to be entered into the ship’s muster role when it was started on 27 May 1768.
Died 12 February 1771, and buried at sea in the Indian Ocean.

Position On-Board: Carpenter

Biographical Summary:

Cook referred in his journal to Satterley being a very competent man, and “a Man much Esteem’d by me and every Gentleman on board”.

Satterley made out his Will on 7 February 1771, as he expected his illness to prove fatal. In his Will, he left all of his possessions to his mother, Mrs Elizabeth Satterley of Chatham, Kent. His Will also refers to his married sister, Elizabeth Michell, also of Chatham. Satterley passed away on 12 February 1771, and was buried at sea in the Indian Ocean.
